

It certainly is time. When you start to put things together, such as Ken Johnston's testimony of the deliberate faking of evidence of intelligent activity on the Moon, the disappearance of the original NASA photo that showed Richard Hoagland's "Castle", Sgt. Wolfe's secret moon base photos, Donna Hare's experience of photo censorship of a UFO, and of course the avoidance by NASA to discuss all the strange objects and structures found on the planet Mars, a consistent picture emerges; one of obfuscation, denial, and a deliberate, consistent policy of secrecy.

It all begins to tie together too when we start to listen to what NASA astronauts have been saying over the years. Perhaps now they have been given permission to talk about this stuff; a whisper in their ear that they won't be subject to prison and penalties anymore. Well, maybe in some shady corridor it has now been decided that some information needs to be revealed to the people about these matters, gradually, carefully and in drip-feed fashion, so they can perhaps slowly get used to the idea that 'alien civilizations' inhabit this universe with us . . . and have in fact been visiting the Earth for some time.

Astronauts and UFOs

At the forefront of space-discovery have been NASA astronauts and Soviet and Russian cosmonauts. It has been these guys who have been beyond the sphere of our home planet and ventured out into the mysterious, forbidding world of space. If there are deep mysteries to behold beyond the confines of Earth then it will be to the words of these bold people that we might listen to with all seriousness if we want to learn something.

All of the early Apollo astronauts were military personnel sworn to oaths of secrecy, but when they approach their later years in life something within them starts to loosen up it seems, or they appear perhaps less fearful and more open to sharing their experiences of what they saw and witnessed in space. Either that or, as we said before, they have now been given permission to talk about this stuff.

Let's hear what our pioneering spacemen have to say about UFOs and the reality of extraterrestrial intelligence visiting our planet:

Astronaut Eugene Cernan, who commanded Apollo 17, made this comment about UFOs: ⁸⁸

I've been asked and I've said publicly I thought they were somebody else, some other civilization.

Astronaut Dr Edgar Mitchell, from Apollo 14 and sixth man to walk on the Moon declared: ⁸⁹

We all know UFOs are real. All we need to ask is where are they from . . . the evidence points to the fact that Roswell was a real incident and that indeed an alien craft did crash and that material was recovered from that crash site.

Former NASA astronaut and Princeton physics professor, Dr Brian O'Leary: ⁹⁰

There is abundant evidence that we are being contacted. That civilizations have been visiting us for a very long time . . . these visitors use the technologies of consciousness.

Gemini astronaut, Colonel Gordon Cooper in a letter to the United Nations: ⁹¹

I believe that these extraterrestrial vehicles and their crews are visiting this planet from other planets which obviously are a little more technically advanced than we are here on Earth. I feel that we need to have a top-level, coordinated program to scientifically collect and analyze data from all over Earth concerning any type of encounter and to determine how best to interface with these visitors in a friendly fashion.

He also stated: ⁹²

We know the government is sitting on hard evidence of UFOs.

Astronaut Storey Musgrove, who flew on the space shuttle repair mission of the Hubble Space Telescope: ⁹³

Statistically, it's a certainty there are hugely advanced civilizations, intelligences, life forms out there. I believe they're so advanced they're even doing interstellar travel. I believe it's possible they even came here.

Do we get the impression that something monumental is going on in space but news of which is just not reaching people in the world? How can this be? Is there a news blackout? These are the views of highly trained astronauts and scientists with impeccable credentials. They speak of a reality that sounds like science fiction, but which must in truth simply be relating the sober reality of life out in space.

With Earth's own astronauts acknowledging the possibility and even the probability that extraterrestrial spacecraft are visiting the Earth, the likelihood of a base on the Moon, therefore, becomes a serious possibility. Why? Because on a purely practical level you would expect that any visitors from a far-distant star system would require a local operational base from which to fly their reconnaissance missions - and the Moon would provide an ideal observation station to monitor the Earth.

Over the years there have been many sightings of luminous objects shooting across the surface of the Moon under seemingly intelligent control, indicating there is continuous activity in the lunar skies. Numerous NASA images show too there is plenty of evidence for artificial structures on its surface, reminding us of the kind of thing we've already seen on Mars. This suggests we may well be just as likely to find inhabited buildings on the Moon, as ancient ruins.

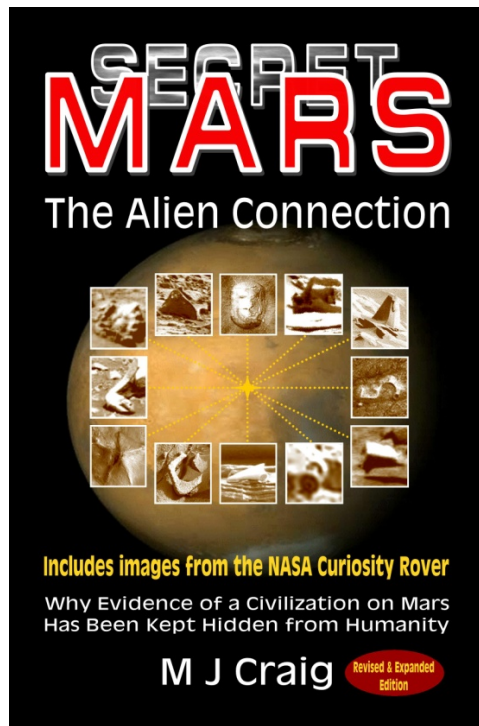

Do Covert Agencies Control Alien and UFO Affairs?

What is to be done with this state of affairs? On the one hand we have this massive body of evidence from both highly credible witnesses and official photographic and digital images affirming the highly probable existence of extraterrestrial craft, buildings, and artefacts - and on the other hand, a completely unmoved and unresponsive government and space agency, denying that anything of any serious note or scientific interest is happening or has been discovered at all. It is absolutely incredible.

Clearly, the reality must be that someone somewhere is struggling to know what to do with this information, and perhaps everyone is avoiding dealing with it, for the consequences of releasing knowledge of such matters to the world will be enormous and paradigm-shattering. There is strong evidence too that, due to severe compartmentalization within hierarchical structures that control the flow of information, knowledge, and control of alien matters may have been gradually siphoned off to covert, clandestine agencies that may not be under the direction of legitimate government but which serve some other goal.

Dr Steven Greer from the Disclosure Project has compiled evidence that links prominent U.S. hi-tech companies and defence contractors such as Bechtel, Boe
